

The WEEK

By A. M. Brayton

THE primary rejected Senator Robert M. La Follette's war record, he stated the issue of the fight with Japan, and the issue of the fight with Germany, were the two main issues of the campaign. He stated that the issue of the fight with Japan was the more important of the two, and that the issue of the fight with Germany was the less important of the two.

A movement to bring out an independent candidate against Blaine is being discussed. The obvious idea is that the coming legislature with its economic group representation, represents a chance to the state, and that the vote should be applied. It is proper to consider whether a friendly but rational executive would be better than a premeditated negation in the executive office, and whether Blaine fills this need. Sometimes a familiar pilot is better than an anchor. There will be a platform convention. Blaine will doubtless have a voice in it. Perhaps the wise thing to do is to wait for it. Heads will be cooler, and Republicans in general will thus avoid the inconsistency of condemning a program of which they know little or nothing. The belt is a two-edged sword. Republicans may well ask themselves whether an attempt to defeat Mr. Blaine might not have for one of its reactions the defeat of Senator Lenroot.

In Illinois twenty-three members of a communist party have been arrested for plotting to wreck a passenger train. Eleven of them have confessed. They chose the train because it was one in which only wealthy people traveled. They say they planned to murder the survivors, and to slay the neighboring farmers should any of them discover the wreck and attempt to summon aid.

Mooney has started another "news-paragraph" from his cell in prison. In the famous Haymarket case men who published incitement to murder were hanged. Mooney complains of his conviction for the San Francisco bomb outrage, saying he was falsely convicted. But as editor of "The Blast" he repeatedly committed offenses similar to those for which the Chicago Haymarket anarchists were executed.

These men follow the ways of the Russian nihilist. But the nihilist had an excuse—he had no vote, no voice in government.

It is not so in America. In the recent primary railroad workers led a fight which resulted in John J. Esch from Congress. A great many people who are not unfriendly to railroad men believe they were unjust to Mr. Esch, and that they will come to see it themselves in time. But that isn't the point. The important thing is that the railroaders demonstrated that in this country men have no excuse for using bombs to influence government. All they have to do is to go to the polls.

There are reasons why they fail at the polls. Sometimes, it isn't the fault of the polls. The primary fight was accompanied by an incident which illustrates:

NAB CHICAGOAN AS SUSPECT IN BIG BOND THEFT

Lord H. Wilson Alleged to Have Disposed of Portion of $175,000 Eastern Haul

GIGANTIC ROBBERY RESULTED IN BANK MESSENGER'S MURDER

Stolen Securities Traced After They Show Up in Kansas City

BILLINGS, Mont., Sept. 11.—A man said to be Lord H. Wilson, an advertising man and bond dealer of Chicago, was arrested here today by Detective Sergeant James J. Gagan of New York, charged with having received and disposed of $50,000 of the $175,000 in Liberty bonds which were stolen from a wall street bond house last year by Benjamin Binkowitz, a messenger, who was afterward murdered at Milford, Conn. Wilson, who was entertaining a party enroute by automobile to Yellowstone Park, consented to waive extradition and left here tonight in the custody of Gagan for Chicago.

Admits Having Bonds
The man said to be Wilson, according to Gagan, admits having had the bonds, which were traced to him after two of them had turned up last month in the Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City, but is said to have maintained that he did not know from whom he received them.

Gagan is one of the numerous detectives assigned to hunt down the conspirators who are said to have directed the theft of bonds and securities valued at $5,000,000 in Wall street during the last two or three years.

HARDING TO QUIT FRONT PORCH FOR TOUR OF COUNTRY

Tentative Plans for Speaking Trips Have Reached Discussion of Towns

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Tentative plans for speaking trips by Senator Harding to both coasts have reached the stage. It became known here today, where an itinerary of cities is under discussion. As these plans now shape they would carry the senator into many states and would keep him away from Marion most of the time from late September to election day.

Headquarters officials said a decision probably would not be reached for several days, but it was indicated that both the nominee and his managers were inclining toward the coast to coast proposal. The senator himself has taken the position that should he go into the west at all he must visit every western state in which there is a senatorial contest, and it is understood that his wish in that regard is to prevail.

The tentative list of cities to be visited is understood to include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee and Madison, Omaha, St. Louis, Sioux City, Sioux Falls or Pierre, Bismarck or Fargo, Butte, Boise City, Salt Lake City, Denver, Reno, Tucson, Oklahoma City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Spokane. The western swing would come first, beginning probably about September 27, and the visit to eastern cities would follow late in October.

STATE CONGRESSMEN SOON TO RETURN TO NATIONAL CAPITAL

With End of Campaign They are Due in Washington for December Session

RANDALL INTERESTED IN PERSONAL RURAL CREDITS

Lenroot's Daughter Head of Division of U. S. Children's Bureau

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—With the primaries in Wisconsin over, several members of the state delegation are expected back in Washington during the next few weeks preparatory to the opening of congress again in December. Among them is James G. Monahan of Darlington. At Mr. Monahan's office it was said that the congressman's secretary, H. E. Brecht of Darlington, would be back inside of a couple of weeks.

The informant at Monahan's office was a youngster about twelve years old who has set up a small telegraphy outfit to while the hours away. The clicking of a wireless sender has thus temporarily displaced the ever resounding typewriter in the congressman's office.

He's for Harding

Incidentally, Monahan has not lost the opportunity to display his support of Senator Warren G. Harding, the republican presidential candidate. At least, this seems to be a fair conclusion to draw from the large posters on his door and his room bearing the picture of Mr. Harding.

What is true of Monahan's office is true of most of the offices of the members of congress. The office of Edward Voigt of Sheboygan is still open, but the secretary finds little to do in only arranging for passports or possibly a little business in connection with local postoffices. She is also taking care of the Washington affairs of Florian Lampert of Oshkosh.

An active campaign for a personal rural credits bill is being carried on out of the office of Clifford E. Randall of Kenosha. Although Randall is not here, he has loaned his office to R. C. Milliken, who for some twenty-five years has been studying the matter of personal rural credits.

Personal Rural Credits Bill

Of special interest to Wisconsin farmers and particularly to graduates of the Agricultural College of the University of Wisconsin, is this movement for the passage of a personal rural credits bill during the next congress. It was started by Representative Louis T. McFadden of Canton, Pa., who is now chairman of the house banking and currency committee. Mr. McFadden is a banker as well as a member of congress and has been closely connected with the needs of farmers in Pennsylvania.

Randall of Wisconsin has been one of the ardent supporters of the proposed rural credits bill. He circulated quite extensively through Wisconsin a speech strongly advocating the measure. On a more recent date, the National Society of Record associations has entered into the fight for the measure. This society represents the breeders of thorough bred livestock throughout the country, including the American Guernsey Cattle club, representing 32,000 breeders of which Charles L. Hill of Rosendale, Wis., is director; and the American Cowsold association of Waukesha, Wis., of which Frank W. Harding is secretary.

Probe is Ordered

The last agricultural appropriation bill provided an appropriation for a congressional committee representing the agricultural and banking and currency committees of both house and senate to make an investigation of rural credits. So far the committee has not been named, and the immediate object of the campaign is to bring this about.

Can the Capitol Distance the Hill? How About a Race?

FOR a sporting proposition, how would a good old-fashioned steamboat race hit you? Maybe you'll see one, one of these days.

The idea got started yesterday, when Captain Wilcox, pilot of the G. W. Hill, dropped into the Tribune and Leader-Press office and registered a complaint against a passing reference in a news-story to "the faster Capitol." Captain Wilcox heatedly denied that the Capitol has anything on the Hill in the line of speed. He declared his conviction that the Capitol never saw the day it could pull away from the Hill.

Old-timers who recall the palmy days of the river, when fortunes sometimes changed hands on the revolutions of rival packets' paddle-wheels, seized upon the suggestion of a race between the two big boats with avidity. It is understood that one supporter of the Hill has $1,000 to back his belief that she can show her heels to the Streckfus boat.

A dash to Trompealean and return has been suggested, as a good course over which to test the rival merits of the steam-boats, and Interstate Fair Week is suggested as a suitable occasion. And just to help the thing along, the Tribune and Leader-Press would be willing to hold stakes if the owners agree to the race.

M'SWINEY'S DEATH MATTER OF HOURS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Double Guard About Lord Mayor's Prison But no Demonstrations

DUBLIN CAR SERVICE HALTS WHILE WORKERS ATTEND MASS

American Women in Demonstration in Mayor's Behalf

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The lord mayor of Cork is in an exhausted condition. He is still suffering severely in his head and body. He is still unconscious.

This bulletin was issued at 1 o'clock tonight and the general impression from official and unofficial reports is that Terence MacSwiney's death is expected at any hour. The officials apparently take this view because the police guard about the prison was doubled tonight.

While a fortnight ago crowds of Irish people hung about the prison all day, the numbers have gradually dwindled and tonight no more than a dozen persons congregated.

It will be held under the auspices of "Andrew Jackson" branch of the "Friends of Irish Freedom" which was organized here last winter. COX PEOPLE NOT HESITANT ABOUT ACCEPTING MONEY

Investigating Committee Digs up Fact Federal Office Holders Help

CLERKS IN REVENUE OFFICE DONATED THIRD OF PAY

Aberdeen Newspaper Woman's Tale Arouses Kenyon

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 11.—The senate committee investigating campaign expenditures today wound up a two weeks' inquiry into charges of Governor Cox that the republican party is seeking a $15,000,000 fund. The sessions here also developed testimony bearing upon charges that the democratic party solicited campaign contributions from federal officeholders and accepted unlimited amounts from other contributors.

The committee will meet on September 22 in either Washington or New York. Chairman Kenyon, being empowered to choose the city. Senator Kenyon said that if Washington was selected, the witnesses who were to have been heard at Pittsburgh would be called to the capital.

The last day's hearings were conducted by Chairman Kenyon, republican, and Senators Reed and Pomerene, democrats. Senators Spencer and Edge, republicans, were absent, the latter having left Chicago last night after issuing a statement deriding the Cox charges. This attitude drew criticisms from the democratic members of the committee, Senator Reed having characterized the Edge statement as "indecent."

Republican plans for a seven-day drive for funds in Chicago and testimony that the democrats had assessed girl employees of the internal revenue office at Aberdeen, S. D. $40 each to help finance the democratic campaign, were the topics of today's inquiry.

Miss Eunice Coyne, a newspaper reporter in Aberdeen, S. D., and Miss Jessie Burchard of Minneapolis, a clerk in the Aberdeen internal revenue collector's office, told of the democratic effort to raise money from girl clerks.

Miss Coyne said some of the letters were because they bore insufficient postage and that the girls had to pay one cent on them.

"They had even to pay postage in getting duns from the democrats, did they?" Senator Kenyon commented.

Miss Coyne said she understood the girls who were asked to contribute were all dependent upon their $120 a month salaries, that most of them were living away from home and, because rent and living costs were high in Aberdeen, she did not believe they could afford it.

COX DECLARES LIQUOR NO ISSUE; SPEECH TAKEN AS DENIAL OF "WET" CHARGE

WEBER CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF AND PARTY'S ON TICKET

Former County Officer Winner in Only Democratic Contest

THOMPSON AND BECK LEADERS IN REPUBLICAN PRIMARY VOTE

Prohibitionists Poll 104 Votes; Socialists Two

EX-SHERIFF John Weber is the democratic nominee for sheriff, the official canvass of the primary vote, completed Saturday afternoon, showing 349 votes for Weber and 211 for Mike Britton, north side policeman.

The sheriff's office furnished the only contest in the democratic ranks and the small vote cast shows clearly that most of the followers of Jefferson were busy in the republican primary.

Despite the small democratic vote polled here—of which County Clerk Bert A. Jolivet polled 513 votes for renomination—that party will get on the ballot in the November election, according to R. W. Davis, member of the La Crosse county board of canvassers.

The complete and official returns shows James Thompson, defeated senatorial candidate, to have run ahead of the rest of the republican ticket in his home county. Thompson polled up 7,324 votes against Lenroot who got 3,642 and McHenry who got but 293.

Back was second high on the republican ticket with 6,415 for congress against John J. Esch who polled 4,536.

John J. Blaine, successful gubernatorial candidate, with 5,188, was third high.

The prohibitionists showed a total of 104 votes for their ticket, upon which there were no contests, while but two votes were registered for the socialist slate.

Official Results

The final results on the republican ticket follow:

PROHIBITION BROUGHT INTO PRESIDENT RACE

Reference to "Silent Topic" Follows Severe Attacks by "Dry" Advocates in Western State

GOVERNOR SAYS HE KNOWS WHEN AN EVENT HAS PASSED

In Introductory Talk He is Landed for Record With "Moral Forces"

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—Prohibition, the great silent topic of the campaign, came openly into the presidential campaign here tonight at the meeting of Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate.

The governor after an introduction to a large audience here at the arena in which his sponsor, George C. Cotterill, democratic candidate for United States senator, denounced assertions that the candidate was a "wet" made the following declaration:

"As a progressive in government, I know when an event has passed by and become a part of yesterday. The reactionary rarely does. The friends of world peace and the friends of progress will win this election and any attempt to divide them on any question not at issue will be unavailing."

It was Governor Cox's first direct reference to the liquor question. That it would open the doors of the campaign to further controversy over prohibition enforcement was predicted.

In introducing Governor Cox, Mr. Cotterill charged that Senator Harding, the republican nominee, had for thirty years "been a brewer, owning stock in the local brewery at Marion, Ohio, and also had voted thirty times on the wet side."

Anti-Saloon Record
Mr. Cotterill also declared that Governor Cox's record in Ohio included a Sunday saloon closing law, and general moral leadership. The "wet" charges against the governor, he said, were partisan politics.

The brief statement in tonight's speech of the governor, who has been charged frequently with being a "wet" or "damp" candidate, was determined upon during conferences with Mr. Cotterill and others on his train today after a day of bombardment upon him in newspapers, telegrams and letters demanding a statement from him on the subject.

The way was paved for Governor Cox's declaration by Mr. Cotterill, in introducing the Ohioan to his arena audience. Mr. Cotterill referred specifically to an attack made upon Governor Cox today by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, a republican paper, which branded Governor Cox as a "wet" and demanded that the governor declare himself and not "dodge" the question. The newspaper printed the alleged letter of George F. Carroll, president of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' association dated July 22, stated that "Governor Cox was pronounced 'wet' and his nomination 'a big victory for our interests'."

Mr. Carroll's letter also called for aid and funds from the liquor dealers in behalf of Gov. Cox.

"AND SAY TO ALL THE WORLD, THIS WAS A MAN"

THERE is a lonely place in the heart of many men in La Crosse today that will not be soon filled. Friends of the quality of Frank Kohn are uncommon. One finds cheerfulness often, but rarely with the depths of sympathy that underlay Frank Kohn's ready smile and greeting. Honesty is no unusual trait, but it is not always combined with the wide generosity and tolerance which distinguished Frank Kohn's attitude toward his fellows. Even loyalty, that rare metal of friendship, is seldom to be found in such pure deposits as enriched the nature of this man.

And as Frank Kohn had a genius for being a friend, so he had also that other supreme quality which, with the capacity for friendship, makes the fullness of manhood. Frank Kohn was useful. His opportunities were not such as brought him to be conspicuous; indeed, he was self-effacing far beyond the needful limits of modesty. But those who knew him know that the considerable influence which he possessed was always cast upon the constructive side, and his interest was that of progress and upbuilding. In public affairs he was consistently practical, not given to vague dreams of impossible perfection. Within the absolute meaning of the term he was a practical politician, but none could for a moment connect with him the darker connotations with which men of smaller horizons and less innate idealism have stained the phrase. The community has need of many more such "practical politicians" as Frank Kohn than it is likely to find. Men of high principle who know how to "think big" and who understand how to effectuate their aspirations are not common. When they appear they are valuable—as Frank Kohn has been to La Crosse.

One cries out with the shock of his passing upon the cruelty of the fate which fells a man in the prime of his usefulness. But the bitterness of the event is to us who are left in the circle so suddenly broken. Our friend has passed as all who understood his nature know would be the way best pleasing to him. As quietly as was his wont in the affairs of life he has dropped out of it. His death was in perfect keeping with his life, and one who knew the quality of his nature feels with perfect certainty that from the shadows which we cannot fathom he looks back with no thought of self, but with a great sympathy and understanding for the sorrow of his friends.

WHAT DO THE PEOPLE THINK?

THERE has been for some years an interest on the north side in the creation of a community center which could knit together the public and social relationships of that prosperous and fast-growing section. The fact that in settling the school question at Friday night's meeting the council also acted to locate the Logan junior high school in such a way as to foreclose the realization of the definite community center plan which had found large favor on the north side will be a source of great disappointment to many who see something of the future.

One has a feeling that the people of the north side were not sufficiently consulted before the decision of the council was taken. After all, the question of a community center or no community center in North La Crosse is one in which the paramount interest is that of the north side itself. The expense involved would be negligible, and supporters of the center believe that its benefits would be substantial. We do not believe that settling the matter without any effort to take the sentiment of those directly interested is either fair or wise.

We submit that before the question is considered definitely closed it could only be in the interest of complete satisfaction to permit the pros and cons of the matter, from the north side standpoint, to be discussed by the people interested. Granting the opportunity of such a discussion would not commit the council to the community center idea should it not prove to be as popular as its supporters declare, or should the council consider that its advocates fail to make out a sufficient case. But railroading the community center plan to death over the protest of north side aldermen and without permitting the north side people to express themselves is a course which is likely to leave a certain amount of resentment, to say the least.

APPLE TIME

APPLE time is coming on. Bumper crops are anticipated. That's good. What human is there that doesn't enjoy a nice, fat, juicy piece of open-face apple pie? 'Aye, several of 'em!

And cider! Gee, won't there be a demand for gallons and barrels of nice soft cider! Leaving the apple crop for just a moment, stroll down the lane, close to the orchard, and visit the old cider mill. Used to be a blind-folded horse walking around in a circle, that supplied the motive power to squeeze the juice out of the apples. All different now—it's a gasoline engine.

But the same steady stream finds its way into the barrels, and the same lot of kids are hanging around, eating apples and going home with the stomach-ache. Same jolly cider makers. "Sure, drink all you want. Cider's cider these days but folks is folks, too," says the cider man.

And up in the orchard there the trees are hanging full—Baldwins, and Pippins, and Russets, and Winesaps, the red-striped Dutchess, the big Kings, and the mealy Tomahawks, to say nothing of the famous baker, the Twenty-ounce. And there on the edge of the long row is the crab-apple, its limbs glorious with the red clusters that almost bow them down—would bow them down were it not for the props that sustain them, like a drunken man between two friends.

Think of it, people—apple time and plenty of 'em. Can they keep the prices up? Visions of apple dumplings, apple pie, apple short cake, apple tarts, apple sauce, and apple butter—let it be hoped in the name of all of these and that of baked apples with cream, that they cannot.

PEACE WITH HONOR

HEARTFELT thanksgiving and relief is the key in which the city is certain to pitch its discussion of the council's action upon the school question. No other solution could adequately meet the situation with which we were confronted than facing the problem squarely and dedicating ourselves to the effort required to overcome it. We had temporized and made shift long enough with a question that became continually more imperative and impossible of makeshift solution. Had this clean-up of the entire affair been long delayed, the outraged protective sense of parents all over the city would almost certainly have mobilized public opinion in a definite campaign which would sweep all before it. The council acted wisely for the harmony and friendliness of civic relations, and in the interests of keeping our discussion of differences within in reconcilable bounds almost as much as in those of the well-being of the school children we may be glad that the issue is settled.

CHURCH NEWS
Furnished by the Church News Association

While preaching in New York on summer engagements, the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Chicago's Armour Institute fame, let it be known in his sermons that he favors the league of nations. When asked privately whether Christian people generally favor the league, he pointed out that practically every religious body in America has officially urged President Wilson's plans upon the United States senate, and then added: "Both political parties fall grievously short in platform utterances of their candidates. They state gravely that if the Wilson pact had been confirmed by the senate we might by now have had to send American boys to the Balkans, and spend American money to end if possible European age-long troubles. I say they state this thing gravely, and ask people to believe it. Yet I suppose there isn't a person in America, those who state it and those who hear it, who believes it. It is a part of the bunk which is being given out to catch votes."

Upon entering a new working year, October 1920 to May, 1921, most of the great Christian agencies of the world find themselves in unusually good financial condition, and with larger working forces than they ever had before. All of the great British missionary societies, together the largest in the world, had larger incomes in the year just ended than they ever had, and several cleared off war-time debts. The British and Foreign Bible society had a larger income by $250,000 than it ever had. All of the British general agencies face the new year with confidence. At home the American Bible society reports last year somewhat decreased output, due in part to inability to supply distribution in 100 years of 137,933,933 volumes. With the American missionary societies, most of them free of debt, the society is counting on a great year ahead.

The Free Church leaders of England are bringing every influence they apparently can think of to induce the foreign office to recall the British minister to the Vatican. In the common troublesome questions are thrown at the government bench. Conditions in Ireland are dragged in. Conferences of Free Churchmen pass resolutions on the subject. The Church of England leaders claim the establishment to be with the Free Churchmen a waste of public funds in maintaining. Charges of a waste of public funds in maintaining a second minister in Rome are made, and recently one Free Church conference charged that the minister has nothing to do in particular save to sit at a desk and take money for expenses that is sadly needed for other purposes.

DAME FASHION FAVORS FRILLY NECKWEAR
BY CORA MOORE.
New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK—There is much that is new in neckwear, though the shape of the necktie remains unchanged. Medici collars and the "Robespierre" have already appeared, but for the most part frilly neckwear, on the order of that Robby McCree of the "Midnight Rounders" is wearing, will be in highest favor. Variations of the horse-collar are many, and are all-around effects generally.
Dainty laces, nets, bastistes and organdies in white, cream, butter, color and ecru are the favored materials, the harsher linen and satin collars being distinctly in the minority, though some of the tailored dresses and suits demand them.
As for sleeves, both long and short ones will be worn, and, in either case, will have as a finish either white cuffs matched to the collar or a touch of contrasting color.

Art Around Us

ONE of the first bits of information that interested me on my return to La Crosse after a month's vacation in the east, was that Mr. Doering had on exhibition at his store a notable painting by Matthias Alton, a European painter. This proved to be indeed a very interesting picture, well painted from a technical point of view and very attractive in subject. It is one of the class of pictures which tell a story, and this one tells it very simply and obviously, so that the observer would readily get its meaning even without the aid of the title, "The Two Messages." A gray haired man sits in an easy chair before an open fire in the corner of a cozy cottage, reading his bible. At the window stands a young girl reading a letter, her first love message, perhaps. Besides the excellent handling, the picture is a charming bit of coloring, the problem in lighting evidently being the one which held the most attractive and greatest challenge for the artist: for the white light of day, from the window, illuminates the figure of the girl and most of the interior of the room, while in contrast, and from the opposite direction, comes the red glow from the fireplace. This is particularly interesting in its treatment, for in the case of the old man, both lights are reflected upon him, a portion of his figure, the head and hands especially being illuminated by the two different kinds of light. We wonder if the members of the Art association took advantage of this opportunity to see a good picture. We hope so, and that it was seen by hundreds of persons: for Mr. Doering deserves credit for bringing to La Crosse these fine pictures, as he does at frequent intervals. No matter if the purpose is to attract customers to the store, this is perfectly legitimate advertising. He might, if his taste were different, and he were not interested in art, bring something of a much lower class and less expensive, which would serve the purpose quite as well of attracting people to the store. Let us make everything grist that comes to our mill says an old adage.

I am not sure that I have seen in print or heard spoken any word of appreciation for the simple but artistic electric light poles and lamps which were installed months ago in Riverside park, and which add a decided touch to that very beautiful recreation ground. There is danger that, as this lovely gathering place becomes more and more popular, as it will in time, objects of a commercial or advertising nature may seek and gain admission, until the park gradually loses its delightful air of openness, of freedom and elegance which it now has. Open spaces, vistas, stretches of green sward, like a certain amount of unfilled space on walls or floors of a home, are elegant, no amount of it take the form of fresh paint, a cleaned-up alley or a new front to a place of business. We notice many improvements of the latter sort, which give a progressive appearance to our city and enhance its attractiveness in no small measure. Let the memory run back to the Main street of ten or even five years ago and note the transformation that has taken place—the white way, the new buildings, the modernized fronts. There are still a few unsightly shacks which perhaps an angry Jove will hurl a bolt of lightning at one of these cloudy days if their owners are not seized with a proper amount of shame or enough pride to make them emulate others who are doing their share to make a more beautiful La Crosse.

The next thing that attracted the spectator was the new theater building, which seemed near completion, the entrance to which seemed to beckon invitingly. When I reached the interior and the beautifully proportioned and exquisitely decorated room of the new Rivoli theater burst upon me, I had one of the pleasantest thrills of my homecoming. Seldom have I been in a building in which architect and decorator have worked together more harmoniously and effectively. Here decoration brings out by proper accent the architectural features of the auditorium. The decoration is ample, but restrained and chaste, and can but have a refining influence upon the taste of those who patronize the Rivoli. It is but truth to say that it is easily the most handsomely decorated room in the city—something La Crosse will be proud to show to its visitors. Let's put up this sign for visitors: Don't judge our city by our railway stations, but by the Rivoli theater. The fine grill pipe-organ, the lighting, the up-to-the-minute mechanical and electrical appliances—the appointments for convenience and comfort—all make this new theater one of the most complete and beautiful it has been our experience to see in any city, large or small.

A good deed has an impelling force and its influence is not lost, whether

NOMINATION BY CONVENTION

As stated last week, there are two common methods of nominating candidates for office—the primary election system which we then briefly outlined and the caucus and convention system which we promised to discuss this week.

For years, the caucus and convention system was almost universal. By it the political parties nominated their candidates for town, village, city and county offices as well as those for state and nation. You may rest assured that excitement was not lacking while such a campaign within the party was on. Witness the recent presidential conventions.

What is the difference between a caucus and a convention? A caucus consists of the voters of a political party assembled for the purpose of selecting nominees for office. While a convention consists of delegates chosen usually by the voters for the purpose of selecting nominees for office, or delegates to a convention. Where the system is in vogue, the caucus is employed in the selection of nominees for town, village and city offices, while the convention is used for the selection of nominees for county, state and national offices.

In states now using the system each party holds a caucus about two weeks before the spring election, at which nominations are made for the local offices to be filled and delegates to the county, state and national conventions are chosen. The number of delegates to each convention is determined by the number of votes cast by the party in question at the last election in the town, village or city.

The most typical convention of the present time is the national convention. As we know from recent observation it is no calm affair. And it keeps our gamblers guessing as to what it will do. Since its action now has world-wide consequences every American citizen should be familiar with its organization and work.

About six months before the convention is to meet the call is sent out, as we have previously stated, by the national committee. The number of delegates to each party convention from each state is twice its number of senators and representatives in congress. For example Wisconsin has eleven representatives and two senators, therefore she is entitled to twenty-six delegates to the national convention of each political party. In Wisconsin these delegates are elected by the voters of each party at the spring election of the presidential year.

Before the convention is called to order each state delegation meets and selects a national committeeman to serve for the next four years, and a member to each of the four very important committees of the convention—organization, credentials, rules and resolutions.

A test of factional strength is likely to be made on the first day when the vote for temporary chairman is taken. About the third day, the committee on resolutions reports the platform. Often most of the planks have been prepared before the convention assemblies at all, but sometimes a keen issue takes place on the floor. Once adopted the platform is supported by all loyal party members. Now nominations for president are in order. And a tense time it is. Commonly nomination speeches are followed by laudatory seconds and even thirds. Any number of candidates may be nominated. Then follows the balloting. The roll is called by states. In the republican convention each delegate is permitted to vote as he pleases and a majority of all voting is necessary to a choice; while the democrats in their convention require each state delegation to cast its vote as a unit, and two-thirds of the states are necessary to a choice.

Following the nomination of the president comes the nomination of the vice-president. Then we all throw up our hats and yell ourselves hoarse for Wisconsin—wipe our brows, put on our coats and go home resolved to declare that our platform and our candidate is the "greatest ever." The national committee will take care of the rest.

(Next week Professor Kinsman will discuss "The Machine" and the "Boss.")
May Register Before Twenty-one
Miss M. N. asks: May one register who is not of age on the date of registration but will be before election?

Reply
Yes. The law simply requires that a person be twenty-one at the time he casts his ballot.

May Vote by Mail
Miss A. N. asks: Is it possible for one to vote by mail?

Reply
Yes, if one is to be absent from the precinct where he has a lawful right to vote. Not more than twenty or less than three days before election make application to the county clerk for an official ballot. The county clerk will furnish you the blank for making such application. Then follow directions as given.

A resolution was passed deprecating the issuing of prescriptions for liquor by the doctors. Another resolution asking for the full time service of doctors in the sanatoria throughout the country was acted upon. SON OF SPARTA MAN IS MARRIED TO A NEW YORK GIRL

SPARTA, Wis., Sept. 11. (Special) —Notice has been received in the city of the marriage of Elmer E. Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peck, of Sparta, and Miss Ruth A. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jones of Utica, N. Y. which took place at the home of the bride's parents August 25. The double ring service was performed by Rev. Henry E. White, of Youngstown, Ohio, pastor of the Presbyterian church. About one hundred relatives and friends were present. The couple were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Eunice Jones, and Mr. Charles E. Peck, cousin of the bridegroom, as best man. The bride was dressed in white satin and a veil of tulle, and she carried white roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in pale green satin and carried pink roses. Following the ceremony and congratulations, a dainty wedding luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Peck departed on a wedding journey which included New York City, Niagara Falls, and points in Pennsylvania and Michigan. After November first, the young couple will be at home in Sparta, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. The bride was a school teacher.

Miss Agnes Axelsson and Mr. Frank J. Quinn of Denver, Colo., went to Winona, where they were quietly married. After a short trip to Minneapolis, the bridegroom returned to Camp Levis, Tacoma, Washington, where he is a technical sergeant. The bride is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Axelsson in Sparta. As soon as Mr. Quinn receives his discharge from the service, they will make their home in Denver. The bride was educated in the Sparta schools and is a graduate of the W. B. U. in La Crosse. Completing her course there, she went to Washington, D. C. where she had a civil service position.

Word has reached the city of the marriage of Mrs. Dell Rockford, formerly Miss Inez Gilbert of Sparta, now residing in Duval, Washington, and Mr. Will D. Jones of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married at Everett, Wash., Sept. 4 by Rev. Putnam, pastor of the Methodist church. They will make their home in Duval.

Their Legs Were Invisible

There is an antelope in China which a traveler who has seen it in motion credits with a speed of at least 60 miles an hour. The traveler was driving in a motor at 4 miles an hour by speedometer when a herd of the antelope started up nearly opposite the car and circling around ahead kept going parallel to the road. When shot at they quickened their pace—perhaps to 70 miles an hour. "One had the impression," says the traveler, "they were skimming the ground, for their legs appeared only as a blur."

RIGHT AT HOME AS A BREADMAKER

The making of good bread is an art acquired only by continual study and experience. That's why every woman and girl should be interested in bread-making. To assist in stimulating greater interest in bread-making locally and of help to the government in its big educational campaign, liberal prizes for bread are offered by the Inter-State Fair, La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 21 to 24.

Bridge Lighting Without Poles

A schedule of bridge illumination without the necessity of resorting to the use of the unsightly poles has been evolved by illuminating engineers. It is a system that does not destroy the architectural grace of a bridge by unsightly poles; saves expenses of operation and prevents glare in the eyes of the drivers. It is now in use on the Kensico dam, which impounds the 38,000,000-gallon reservoir for the water supply of New York city.

The roadway crossing the dam is 220 feet long and 26 feet wide with an eight-foot sidewalk along one side. It is edged by four-foot parapets. Into these are such that uniform illumination is obtained and the light is diffused over the surface of the drive at a low level that insures traffic safety.

The Thinnest Thing in Nature

The thinnest thing in nature is the black spot that appears on a bubble before its burst. That black spot is the center of a number, usually five, of concentric rings on the skin of the bubble, which form as the skin weakens. The thickness of these rings decreases by regular steps towards the center, and there the bubble is so thin that it cannot reflect light, and therefore appears black. But mica has been split by man into layers only one molecule thick.

Paper Yarns Are Durable

Yarns of papers which came into use during the war will be with us permanently. The durability and desirability of this material has been found to be a very difficult problem. A number of materials have been used, but the best method seems to be first to pass the yarn through a bath of gum, tannin and then through a cold bath of basic formate of aluminum.

Fabrics of paper yarns in this country have so far been used principally for packing purposes, and certain types of bags, notably those used for onions.

First Flights in Burma

Burma only saw aeroplanes flying for the first time on the 30th of November last when two machines, one French and one British, en route to Australia passed through Rangoon from Calcutta and Akyab. They were received by countless thousands of people with loud and prolonged cheering. They left the following morning for Bangkok. The journey from Akyab took about four and a quarter hours. The mails carried by sea usually take as many days.

What a Million Means

A way of realizing the meaning of a million, is to think of what it means in time. Probably few people realize that there are less than a million days in the whole Christian era. In fact, if we count back a million days from 1920, we come to a date well before the founding of Rome, while a million hours would take us back almost to the Battle of Trafalgar, and a million minutes have not yet elapsed since the armistice was signed.

Jugoslavia has no Bolshevism.

SOUTH SIDE SAFETY CARS

Protection of Passengers

The mechanical features of the new one-man safety control street cars, eight of which have been bought by us and will be placed in operation on the streets of La Crosse next week, are so ingenious and of such undoubted value that they have tremendously improved the service wherever they have been installed.

Consider the matter of automatic safety devices, for instance. The controller has been so arranged that the instant the operator moves his hand from the controller handle, the current is off from the motors, air is applied to the brakes and the doors are unlatched—the latter operating by pneumatic release.

Rapid acceleration and breaking, which are among the chief factors in increasing schedule speed, are made possible by special motors and breaking equipment which have been developed for this type of car.

The type of truck with which the safety cars are equipped, was designed especially for this car. They are single trucks, but far different from any single trucks ever before placed on a street car. The wheel base is extremely long in proportion to the length of the car. The trucks are non-oscillating, which prevents a rocking motion called "galloping" which was so common in a former type of single-truck car.

The springs are of cantilever construction, similar to the patterns adopted in the latest models of automobiles. The axles are friction bearing, of highly improved type. The motors shafts are ball bearing.

A special type of controller was built for this car, which, with the combination of an ingenious air brake and pneumatic door release, door opening and step folding arrangement, places the operation in two controls—the controller handle and the airbrake handle.

The cars are very light and the motors powerful.

We explain these things in order that you may understand why we are asking all of our patrons to co-operate with us in making this new service the tremendous success it should be.

Have the exact fare ready when you board the car.

You will thus expedite the trip, both for yourself and the other passengers.

Brazil's Snake Assortment.
There is said to be more snakes in Brazil than in any other country of the Western Hemisphere. At Batuntan near Sao Paulo there is a great snake garden where scientists are studying the mysteries of snake biology. The original reasons for the establishment of the garden, which is a huge nursery for snakes, was to obtain serum enough to provide a remedy for those bitten by snakes throughout Brazil. The garden is 600 acres in extent and divided into three departments, two of which are devoted to cobras, crotalids and bothrops, the most poisonous snakes known; while the third department is given over to the non-poisonous snakes.

Stop Wash Day Worries---have your wash done "The Soft Water Way"

Figure the cost of the laundress, her meals, the gas or coal, the soap, the heat and "mess", and your own trouble. Doesn't it make home washing come pretty high?

Why not stop all that? Send your flat work here, as well as your other laundry, to be washed "the soft water way." You can't get such quality from a "hard water" laundry—or even at home—because we use "rain soft" water exclusively in our plant.

Our work is not only clean—absolutely clean. It is fresh, white, soft, sweet smelling, delightful to the feel. And—because we use only pure soap and softest water—your linens last longer, give you more wear.

DEMAND FOR MORE SHIPS STILL COMES FROM MANY OF AMERICA'S SEAPORTS

Steamship Accommodations to Europe at a Premium With Reservations Booked for Three Months in Advance

NEW YORK.—The slogan of "ships! ships! and still more ships!" so effectively used during the war to speed up America's ship building program as a defiance of the submarine campaign still is heard in American seaports. It comes, however, not so much from those having freight for transit as it does from those who desire to make trips to foreign shores on business or pleasure.

Steamship accommodations for all lands, despite more than a doubling of pre-war time tariffs and rigid restrictions as to passports, are at a premium. Representatives in New York and other terminals of passenger-carrying lines say that all available accommodations are booked as far as three months ahead. The unfortunate business man faced with the need of making an unexpected trip abroad, is forced to depend on possible cancellations of previously engaged passage on the part of someone who at the last moment is prevented from sailing. On many ships third-class accommodations hold men and women who are financially able to travel in the best that the ship affords. It is no infrequent occurrence for a staid banker, or a wealthy head of a large business house to be found hooked with the humble alien laborer returning to the land of his birth for a visit.

Rates Higher
It was recently said by the head of a large line in speaking of tariffs, that in 1914 a man could purchase a tourist ticket including rail fares and hotel accommodations for a trip halfway around the world for the same sum that he is now compelled to pay for a one-way ticket from New York to a Mediterranean port.

Records of departures and arrivals as kept here by the Steamship Men's association show that despite the very apparent rush, travel is only about half, as to number of passengers, what it was in 1914. In May and June of that year there sailed from American to trans-Atlantic ports 164,300 persons of whom more than 100,000 were classed as third-class. In the same months of 1920 the outgoing total was 80,323 of whom 50,000 were third-class.

Of incoming passengers in one month of 1914 there were 105,100 persons. The corresponding month this year showed 45,120 persons arrivals.

Passenger Ships Needed
The rush this year and the difficulty in getting accommodations is accounted for by the fact that there is needed "ships, ships, and more ships" of the passenger-carrying class. Available tonnage, due to the ravages of the war, is greatly depleted. The North German Lloyd and the Hamburg American lines, which prior to the war carried a large percentage of the trans-Atlantic travel, do not exist. In addition, many of the big liners of allied flags are gone, as for example the Lusitania. Almost the entire pre-war fleet of another large British line were submarine victims. Other ships were of a necessity laid up for periods of more than a year for reconconditioning due to their accommodations having been ripped out with axes to make them into troop carriers. An example of this is the huge Olympic, which but recently was returned to her passenger-carrying trade.

German Liners Idle
Of the former German liners, although taken over by the United States and other countries, but comparative few are yet in operation. One of these is the Leviathan, the largest ship afloat which is lying idle at her dock in Hoboken—a ship which could carry from 5,000 to 8,000 passengers were she in operation. Leviathan could go to sea now, insofar as her engines and boilers are concerned, but alterations of her cabins by which she was able to take on board 12,000 troops have unfitted her for passenger-carrying trade.

The outlook of the American merchant marine passenger-carrying trade, however, is very bright, shipping men say. The United States shipping board is giving encouragement to the organization of lines adequate to demands of the service. The International Mercantile Marine company has added to its American flag service a line to Hamburg with two of America's best ships making regular runs therein. Recent announcement was made that a new company, the American Ship and Commerce corporation, has made a working agreement with the Hamburg American line for its former trade routes. This company announces that it will handle 86 ships or more than 500,000 tons. Included in its service will be several passenger lines. Another new company, recently organized, is the United States Mail Steamship company to which has been allocated 15 of the largest German passenger liners, including the presidential ship George Washington, America, Mount Vernon and President Grant, all well known liners prior to the war.

Start South American Service
A passenger service to South America with five steamers now in operation was instituted by the shipping board. A number of new passenger liners now under construction will soon be ready for allocation among the various American companies. A line of passenger ships to Danzig was recently formed and its first ship, a former German liner, is now at sea.

Prevailing rates recently quoted show that a first-class ticket can be purchased from New York to a British port at prices ranging from $200 up to $5,000—the latter for the choice suites. To France the tariff ranges from $200 to $1,400, depending on the ship and the berth. Italy, as a destination requires an expenditure of from $220 up, and to Scandinavian countries from $220 to $500. In addition a war tax of $5 is collected on each ticket.

Steering, or third-class rates, are about what second-class formerly cost, and second-class in proportion. To sail, a passenger must have a passport, the details of getting which include furnishing birth certificates, and sworn affidavits as to business abroad, sworn supporting affidavits of witnesses, and a picture of the passengers for the passport and for state department records. The passport secured, there is then required a certificate from the internal revenue collector that the applicant has paid his or her income tax. On this certificate a permit to sail is issued. Visas of consuls of countries to which passengers are bound are also a requirement.

HAMLINE, Minn., Sept. 11.—Three records were broken at the automobile races at the Minnesota State fair here today. Louis Dishrow set what is claimed to be a new record for ten miles for light cars on a one mile dirt track, when he made the distance in nine minutes and seven seconds.

one in charge of the social service division of the children's bureau. Her work there has aroused much favorable comment.

Because of Senator Lenroot's strong advocacy of a waterway through the great lakes and out of the St. Lawrence, a new plan to accomplish this purpose is of special interest to Wisconsin. It has just been advanced by Millard F. Brown and associates of Buffalo and is being presented to all members of congress.

They have drawn up plans to enable direct passage of steamers from lake ports like Superior and Milwaukee to the Atlantic through the state of New York. They advance as one of their chief reasons for favoring the plan the argument that it will not involve spending money for the development of the mouth of the St. Lawrence over which the Canadian government has control. Their plan also embodies a system for employing the water power available.

ALLAMAKEE FAIR ON THIS WEEK; FAST RACES ON

Noted Orators on Program; Exhibition Opens on Tuesday, September 14

WAUKON, Iowa, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The Allamakee county fair will be held at Waukon next week, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 14 to 17. A good bill of free attractions is slated, and a bull game each day. Wednesday New Albin and Harpers Ferry will play on Thursday Waukon and Lansing, and on Friday Decorah and Elkader. Two of Iowa's most noted orators will be here on Thursday to address the fair crowds—Hon. Nate Kendall and Hon. Claude R. Porter. The Waukon fair is noted for its fast horse racing and this year will be no exception. Among the attractions will be Parsons Midgett, the guileless wonder, a pacing horse that goes a mile in 2:15 without a driver. Elliott's "The Destruction of Rheims" is one of the big platform attractions for the night fair. With bumper crops in prospect in this section, the corn and grain exhibits will doubtless be better than ever, as will also the livestock exhibits. With good weather next week this year's fair bids fair to eclipse all previous efforts.

TENNIS TITLE TO EAST IN TOURNEY AT PHILADELPHIA
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—The East today won the East-West tennis title on the turf courts of the Germantown Cricket club. Only one victory was needed today to win the championship, but results showed two triumphs out of three matches played, giving the easterners a total of six matches out of nine in the three-days competition.

William T. Nilden, II, of Philadelphia, the world's singles tennis champion, again demonstrated his tennis ability when he defeated William M. Johnston, California, in the feature match, 6-2, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4. In the other singles match W. M. Washburn, New York, scored a notable victory over Roland Roberts of San Francisco, 3-6, 7-5, 11-9, and 6-2, while in the doubles W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick, Chicago, took a one set match from Dean Mathey and C. S. Garland, Pittsburgh, 8-6. It was agreed to play only one set because of the late start.

MINNESOTA FAIR A RECORD
HAMLINE, Minn., Sept. 11.—A total of 336,155 persons attended the Minnesota State fair which closed here tonight, according to figures announced by the fair board. This compares with 581,643 persons in 1919, which set a record for the state. Today's attendance was 50,241.

PITTSBURGH STILL AGROUND
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The armored cruiser Pittsburgh was still aground today off the port of Liban in the Baltic sea, a dispatch to the navy department said, with the local authorities at Liban aiding with tugs and lighters in an attempt to refloat the ship.

ANTI-SALOONISTS HAVE NO PARTY SAYS W. K. "DRY"
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—A statement issued today by the office of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-saloon league, declared that charges "that the Anti-saloon league is a republican organization" attributed to E. H. Moore in testimony before the senatorial investigation at Chicago, were false. The league membership is about equally divided between democrats and republicans, said the statement, which described the organization as "nonpartisan."

POLITICS TABOO SO CANDIDATE SAYS HE WON'T APPEAR
HAMLINE, Minn., Sept. 11.—Parley H. Christensen, farmer-labor candidate for president, scheduled to speak at the Minnesota State fair today, refused to do so because he would not be permitted to discuss politics. Political addresses are barred at the fair, and according to fair board officials, Mr. Christensen was so notified as were Senator Harding, republican presidential candidate; Governor Cox, democratic nominee, and Dr. Aaron S. Watkins, prohibition candidate, who have spoken here previously this week.

THE WEEK
Ideals and sincerity with which civilization is honeycombed. Pursuit of frivolity saps character. It is rather a dark outlook, but probably we'll pull through. Thirty years ago this week the police blotter in a Wisconsin city shows that a washerwoman with two children sold her flatiron to get money for tickets to a skating rink, and since then more than two million Americans threw down their tools and challenged death in war for principles.

ACQUIT PAIR OF RIOTING CHARGE IN DULUTH CASE
DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 11.—Leonard Hedman and Ryer Olson, charged with instigating a riot in connection with the lynching of three negroes here on June 15 last, were acquitted by a jury here today. The jury in the Hedman case had been out twenty-eight hours and thirty minutes. Hedman still is under indictment on a murder charge.

To date there have been two convictions, two acquittals and one disagreement in the lynching trials. Three new cases will be started Monday.

ANTI-SALOONISTS HAVE NO PARTY SAYS W. K. "DRY"
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—A statement issued today by the office of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-saloon league, declared that charges "that the Anti-saloon league is a republican organization" attributed to E. H. Moore in testimony before the senatorial investigation at Chicago, were false. The league membership is about equally divided between democrats and republicans, said the statement, which described the organization as "nonpartisan."

POLITICS TABOO SO CANDIDATE SAYS HE WON'T APPEAR
HAMLINE, Minn., Sept. 11.—Parley H. Christensen, farmer-labor candidate for president, scheduled to speak at the Minnesota State fair today, refused to do so because he would not be permitted to discuss politics. Political addresses are barred at the fair, and according to fair board officials, Mr. Christensen was so notified as were Senator Harding, republican presidential candidate; Governor Cox, democratic nominee, and Dr. Aaron S. Watkins, prohibition candidate, who have spoken here previously this week.

THE WEEK
Ideals and sincerity with which civilization is honeycombed. Pursuit of frivolity saps character. It is rather a dark outlook, but probably we'll pull through. Thirty years ago this week the police blotter in a Wisconsin city shows that a washerwoman with two children sold her flatiron to get money for tickets to a skating rink, and since then more than two million Americans threw down their tools and challenged death in war for principles.

SHELTER MARKET'S CHIEF NEED SAYS CITY MARKET SHARP

Would Enhance Interest of Both Farmers and Patrons Says Professor J. H. Sherman

PROF. J. H. Sherman, who holds the chair of marketing and economics at the Minnesota state university, spent Saturday morning in La Crosse investigating the La Crosse public market.

At the conclusion of his survey, Professor Sherman said he thought the chief need of the market here just now is the construction of some sort of shelter for market patrons and dealers.

"It has been the experience over the country that a suitable market house, or even a temporary shelter from the weather, immediately enhances the interest and importance of a municipal market," he said. "The farmers are more anxious to come where the interest of the city is assured, and more farmers mean more customers as the housewives learn that there will be larger supplies and more variety of produce on sale."

Prof. Sherman was for two years superintendent of markets in the District of Columbia, where ten municipal markets have been successfully operated for years in various parts of the capital city. Later he was consultant for the New York state market commission, engaged in making surveys of municipal marketing problems for the Empire state. He took his professorship at Minnesota a year ago.

Time Calculated by Moons
Among the western Indians time is calculated by moons instead of months. January is called "the Bear Moon," February "the Racoon Moon," March "Sore-Eye Moon," April "the Moon in which geese lay eggs," May "the Planting Moon," June "the Moon when the strawberries are red," July "the Moon when the cherries are ripe," August "the Harvest Moon," September "the Moon when rice is laid up to dry," October "the Rice Drying Moon," November "the Deer Killing Moon," and December "the Deer Moon."

BATTLE TROPHIES DISTRIBUTED BY FRENCH MISSION

Guns and Soldier Equipment in Great Demand Throughout the Nation

COMPLETE COLLECTION IS GIVEN ARMY AND NAVY CLUB

Coveted Big Bertha Awarded to Town in York State

NEW YORK.—Thousands of war trophies brought from the battle fields of France for use during the Liberty Loan and other drives are being distributed at the warehouse of the French mission here. The material includes guns of all kinds used by the French, British and German, cavalry swords, cuirassiers, shells and soldier equipment.

Large demands for trophies have come from inland cities, according to Major Jean Malve, director of the Bureau of Information, Direction Generale Des Services Francais Aux Etats Unis, now in this city.

One of the largest single collections with the exception of that given to Washington for the National Museum, was presented to the Army and Navy Club of America. The trophies will be preserved in a suitable environment to be included in the plans for the new $3,000,000 clubhouse that is to be erected in honor of the officers killed in the war.

The collection of 50 pieces is made up of cannon, flame throwers, trench mortars, machine guns, bayonets, rifles, swords, cuirassiers, wire cutting machines, trench stoves, brasses, marmites, shells and shell baskets, marine signal flags and other interesting and valuable trophies. The selection was made by Captain Adrian Duane Doty, U. S. Signal Corps, representing the club.

Tanks and German field pieces weighing from one ton to ten recently have been given to cities like Chicago, St. Louis, Chattanooga and others as far away as Texas.

A huge German listening post has been given to Bloomfield, N. J. Mountclair received a whippet tank, while the National Museum at Washington was awarded a large 16-man tank. Other valuable pieces were sent to Washington including an airplane, sample pieces of all the foreign artillery used during the war, uniforms and field kitchens.

The prize of the collection, a Big Bertha, was obtained by Mt. Kisco, N. Y. and will be placed in a prominent position there. The State University of Baton Rouge, La., has requested the immediate shipment of a German mine mortar. Chattanooga has been given a German 150 millimeter gun weighing three tons.

The Chicago collection was chosen by Colonel E. M. Marr. It will be shipped to that city within the next few days. Sergeant Fred Aneth, French Army, who has been in charge of the material for two years announced. An idea of the demands made for trophies, he said, could be gained from the fact that more than 3,000 French helmets and an equal number of uniforms had been disposed of.

The various posts of the American Legion field pieces have been given. All requests are filed at the office of the director, general, 65 Broadway, before permission is given to inspect and select the trophies.

Little Country—Big National Anthem

The length of most National Anthems is in inverse ratio to the size of their proprietary countries. The Belgian "Brabanconne" is much longer than the "Marseillaise" and "God Save the King". While there are only sixteen bars in the Russian Anthem and twenty-eight in "Tail, Columbia" the Chinese require seventy-six bars to proclaim their royalty and the record for length is held by the San Marino Anthem, which has ninety-seven, or more than four times as many bars as there are square miles in the republic.

MISSISSIPPI CLAMMERS GET BIG PRICES FOR SHELLS; 'NIGGERHEADS' VALUABLE

CLAMMER'S BOILING-OUT CAMP

M'GREGOR, Iowa. — Mississippi clam diggers and pearl hunters don't need nowadays to find a pearl to attain riches. A "niggerhead" or a sand shell is a little nugget in itself. They are selling at $90 a ton this season. The price was $6 to $9 a few years ago.

From the thick-pearled niggerhead shells the buttons which are most in demand and command the fancy prices are made. From the sand shells comes the pearl-handled knives. Both kinds of shells are sent to Europe to be manufactured. It is only the "river run" as the other varieties of shells all thrown together are called, that the American factories buy. The clammer receives $45 a ton for these. "How much do you average a day, just from shells?" a clammer who has been in the business for twenty summers was asked the other day. "Oh, this summer not much, only about $4 a day."

"How about pearls? Finding any?" "Nary a pearl. Just a few slugs. Not more than $50 worth all put together."

But then there is always the chance of a thousand dollar pearl dropping out of a clam. Meantime $4 to $5 a day isn't to be despised for four to five hours' work for that is about all the actual labor there is to the clammer's profession. Most of the day he just sits and smokes and drifts with his boat.

"Boil Out" at Night

The real business comes at the end of the day. About four in the afternoon the little fleets of clam-boats are seen drawing into shore with their loads. The boats land each at its own particular "boiling out" camp. Fires are lit under the iron tanks with their couple of lengths of stove pipe and the load of shells is brought from the boat and shoveled into these. A couple of pails of water are added, and the shells kept boiling for an hour or until they are open. The pearl hunter, for that is what the clam digger now becomes, then shovels the steaming shells out onto the table and the search for pearls begins. The flesh of the clam is removed from each one and carefully fingered for a buried pearl; though most always if there is a pearl it appears at first sight. The shells are thrown into a bin beside the table, all except the nigger head and sand shells. These are carefully dropped into separate boxes or barrels.

Have "Summer Homes" Sorting done, the clammer's day's work is over and he takes himself to his "summer home." It is usually a one-roomed, unpainted shack and near by, for with the present price of shells, it pays the clam digger to keep a watchful eye on his shell bins. If he doesn't, he may find them not as full in the morning as they were the night before.

The shells accumulate in the bins until the shell buyer's launch comes along and ties up. Then the digger turns his harvest into cash. Fishing and clamming go by contraries on the Mississippi, so both trades can be profitably followed in a summer. The best clamming is at high water times, and the best fishing when the river is at low stage.

The photograph was taken at Prairie du Chien where a dozen or more boiling-out camps are operated. The clam beds still yield well in the Prairie du Chien vicinity as compared with some other places on the upper river. A pearl button factory has been operated successfully at Prairie du Chien for many years.

Calmness
A restless, bright-eyed urchin was scrambling up on the back of the railway seat and reaching out his arms and legs in all directions. Every few minutes he knocked off the tall silk hat of the fat man in the seat beyond and presently an umbrella came tumbling down from the upper rack nearly bruising the fat man. When the latter could stand the strain no longer he turned to the occupant of the seat behind and emphatically: "Madam will you kindly look after your son? He is extremely annoying." The lady already burdened with three other mischievous lumps said in a most casual voice: "Johnny sit down! The gentleman's nervous."—Judge.

WILL OTT COTTAGE AT SUNSET POINT

BEAUTIFUL SUMMER HOMES ON BANKS OF MISSISSIPPI OWNED BY LOCAL CITIZENS

REAL JOYS FOUND IN LIFE IN OPEN IN THIS VICINITY

La Crosse Families Find Contentment and Health Midst Ideal Surroundings

Have you ever enjoyed a week in a summer cottage on the shore of the Mississippi river, witnessed the sun rise and set over the hills near by, swam with the kids in the river, arose at dawn to get the early fishing, dined with the small-mouthed bass with a fly at sunset, watched the shimmering waters under the light of a big round moon, burned red fire on the bank in greeting to a passing steamboat at night, hustled water, ice, groceries, everything to keep the family and yourself happy?

If not, you have missed the joy supreme in this neck of the woods, in the opinion of several thousand persons who have been privileged to be guests at these attractive homes.

The owners of the cottages are just a little bit more modest in talking about the comforts and fun to be obtained in their summer residences, although admitting that from Memorial day until "camp" is closed after the leaves have turned to russet and gold, is the happiest time of the year for them.

Autumn Best of All

And there are summer home owners who aver that the autumn is the most enjoyable time of all and that the cottage who packs up and goes back to his city residence early in September is missing the best season of the year for life in the open.

That's what it is—life in the open—with cool breezes blowing across spacious screened porches during the hot days and nights of summer, and fresh, pure air, untainted by dust and smoke, filling one's lungs upon awaking in the morning and making one eager for the day's work or play. It's a wholesome, happy, ultra-desirable life in a summer cottage on the banks of the Mississippi, especially near La Crosse, where nature offers her choicest scenic beauties in the verdant-clad hills which border the stream and countless green islands which dot the surface of the mighty river.

First Summer Cottage

It was just forty years ago when Dr. D. Frank Powell, familiarly known up to the time of his death as "White Beaver," built the first summer cottage at Eagle Bluff, on the Minnesota side of the river, five miles from La Crosse. He purchased the land from William F. Potter of La Crosse.

It was not a pretentious house, but boasted all the comforts which one could expect in those days in an abode of that sort, and history records that White Beaver entertained there in lavish style many friends from the city and notables who came from afar to visit him. The Powell cottage, since remodeled several times, is now the summer home of T. H. Spence.

Ferndale Is Started

In 1884, John P. Salzer acquired the site of Ferndale, for years the show-place among the summer homes at Eagle Bluff. The original cottage has been enlarged and improved from time to time until today it affords accommodations for 30 guests and has every convenience and comfort found in a city home.

A few years after Ferndale was opened the Russell and E. D. Loomis cottages were built and in the '90's John M. Holley erected his summer home. Others followed, until today the Eagle Bluff colony boasts a half dozen of the most pretentious summer homes in the vicinity of La Crosse.

All of the Eagle Bluff cottages have wonderful springs, with water which is famous.

Shore Acres Colony

The next large colony to be established was at Shore Acres, above the railroad bridge on the Minnesota side of the river, only two miles from the city. While he was not the first to own a summer home on this site, to W. V. Kidder belongs the credit for developing and popularizing this tract. All of the shore frontage from the bridge north to the point where the Kidder cottage is located, has been sold for summer cottage purposes. Not all of the property has been developed, but it is expected that another year will witness construction of several cottages in addition to the eight houses now forming this colony. The houses now forming this colony are the most valuable home at Shore Acres, that belonging to August Kutzborich, which is a handsome house of the bungalow type, beautifully furnished and with spacious grounds and well kept lawn.

Equally attractive, it is expected, will be the summer residence of F. B. Root to be erected on four lots recently purchased through Mr. Kidder, near the southern end of Shore Acres.

Sunset Point Found

It was nine years ago, in the autumn of the year, when Fred D. Miller, with his wife and son George, stopped on the Wisconsin shore, opposite Dresbach, late their supper and watched the sun set behind the peak of the bluff which lies north of Dresbach.

Declaring that the sunset was the most beautiful thing they had ever seen, the three members of the family agreed they would erect a summer home on the bank where they sat. Their ambition was fulfilled the next summer and thus started the Sunset Point summer cottage colony, now including a dozen handsome homes and said to be one of the most delightful summer resorts in this vicinity.

Sunset Point boasts scenery unsurpassed in the beautiful upper Mississippi valley. The view of the Minnesota hills from the cottages is superb and the sunsets are gorgeous pictures.

and the Millers and the other belonging to Mr. Ott.

The Ott summer home is the most valuable at Sunset Point, beautiful flower beds and other adornments marking the spacious yard, and the cottage having various conveniences, including an auto-lift well.

Other attractive places at Sunset point are owned by J. A. Thwing, W. D. Weedy, J. G. Weibaupt, Lee Asplin, George Miller, F. D. Miller and A. Hussa.

Homesteads on Island

One of the most exclusive, desirable and altogether attractive summer cottage sites owned by local citizens is the island home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Thompson. Only a mile from the foot of Main street and a hundred rods northwest of the head of Pettibone park. Seeking ownership of this island with the intention of buying it, Mr. Thompson made a rare discovery when he found it had never been preempted and was still government land. Mr. Thompson promptly filed a homestead claim on the island, proved up in three years and now holds clear title to the finest little three-acre island in the upper Mississippi. His summer cottage is so close to the plant of the La Crosse Drug company, of which he is the head, that Mr. Thompson is able to run home for luncheon in his power boat and return to his desk inside of 45 or 50 minutes.

Homes at Dresbach

There are two beautiful summer homes fronting on the shore of the Mississippi at Dresbach, belonging to La Crosse citizens, one owned by Ernest Horner and the other by E. S. Fiedler, a department manager of the Doorflinger store. Another handsome summer home at Dresbach is, that owned by Harry Horner, a North Dakota lawyer and brother of Ernest Horner.

Back on the side streets in Dresbach are several summer cottages owned by La Crosse citizens.

Haylands Farm Popular

One of the best known summer homes near this city is the "Haylands Farm" of E. T. Mueller, down on Goose Island, six miles south of La Crosse. On this farm Mr. Mueller raises wonderful corn and pigs and entertains his friends as only E. T. Mueller can. The farm boasts an artesian well throwing a stream two inches in diameter which supplies all the buildings with nice cold water, and prompted the owners to declare that "this farm is always wet."

Gundersen Home Beautiful

Last but not least in the list of summer homes having frontage on the Mississippi river must be cited the palatial residence of Dr. A. Gunderson at the head of the island just west of Pettibone park. On this island the owner has had erected a brick residence, equipped with all modern improvements, including electric lights, bath and sewer and other adornments which make it a show place of the first class. The huge living room in the cottage, with a fireplace of ornate design, supporting a gallery on either side, is a work of art and represents in itself a large investment. While no figures are obtainable on the cost of this summer home, the investment is said to be many thousands of dollars.

A private road with a smooth dressing of cinders leads from the La Crosse bridge road, nearly a half mile to the Gunderson cottage. Ten minutes easy driving takes Dr. Gunderson from his office in the city to his summer home.

Many Other Cottages

There are various other summer homes owned by La Crosse citizens scattered over the islands and along the mainland, both north and south of the city. There are especially attractive colonies at Rice Lake and French lake, with a dozen or more summer homes in each place.

At Onalaska are the Law and Partridge cottages affording a wonderful view of the Black and Mississippi river valley, and the Minnesota hills in the distance.

There are summer homes owned by La Crosse citizens as far south as Genoa and as far north as Trempealeau and Galesville. One of the most popular of the up-river resorts is the island home of the Idle Hours Camping club at Richmond. J. J. Felber, G. A. Keller, Herman Tillman, John C. Toeller and others are interested in this cozy summer home and with their families spend happy weeks there during the summer and autumn months.

Robert B. Fritz also has an attractive island home, on Paradise Island, near Shore Island.

Wherever you find a summer cottage owned by a La Crosse man, you will find the latch string hanging out and joy within.

BANDIT IS OUT GARAGE MAN IN

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—A. J. Karsner, head of the Dixie Auto company, has a headache and $40 belonging to an auto bandit. The bandit deposited the money on a new car and used for a demonstration. While Karsner was demonstrating, he was cracked over the head with a revolver and bound to a tree. The bandit left with the auto but Karsner freed himself and overtook his machine. The bandit escaped.

Called "Uncrowned King of Bavaria"

BERLIN.—Vorwärts declares it learns that Escherich, an ex-official of the Bavarian forestry department, who has organized the "Citizens' Defense Corps," reported to consist of at least 400,000 men who are ready to march at any time to preserve Germany from bolshevism, is virtually the "uncrowned king of Bavaria." The newspaper adds that despite his comparatively humble origin he has immense influence in Bavarian royalist circles.

"We Vote—Why Not Smoke?"

KANSAS CITY.—"We vote, so why not smoke," asked Mrs. Dorothy Hufstader in court against her husband, whom she accused of using force in an effort to "break her" of the habit of smoking. The court ruled that it was no worse for a woman to smoke than for her husband.

LA CROSSE COUNTY AT STATE FAIR

LA CROSSE county again occupies a leading place among the other counties of the state. This fact is evident from the winnings made at the State fair where nearly all of the counties of the state are brought in competition. La Crosse county was one of the largest exhibitors and succeeded in maintaining her high standard by securing her full share of the premiums offered at the fair.

The winnings of 1920 certainly speak in the highest terms for the progressive attitude of the La Crosse county farmers and of the splendid success of all the agricultural activities which are at work in the county. PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE WRITES TWO LETTERS TO JAMES SHIELDS OF CITY

James W. Shields of this city is the proud possessor of two autograph letters written him by Senator Warren G. Harding, republican candidate for president. The letter follows:

"Marion, Ohio, July 19, 1920.

"Mr. Jas. W. Shields.

"La Crosse, Wis.

"My Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your favor of the 14th instant, advising as to the sentiments among labor, as you view it, and also stating that you are a machinist by trade, conveying further the assurance of your support and wishes for success.

"With regard to my views on labor, I do not know that I can do any better than to enclose you a copy of a printed letter, which I wrote some time ago. I do not think any man of good sense has any other than the most sympathetic interest in the cause of labor and the desire to see it fully compensated and its interests thoroughly safeguarded. I beg to refer you also to my forthcoming acceptance speech, which will be delivered next Thursday, in which I have some views to express on the labor question.

"Cordially yours,

"W. G. HARDING."

"Marion, Ohio, July 30, 1920.

"James W. Shields, Esq.,

"Marshfield, Wis.

"My Dear Shields: I have your letter of the 28th inst., giving me in detail your experience with some of your railroad people in which you took the pains to explain to them my position as set forth in my letter to Mr. Miller of Newark, Ohio, concerning my vote on the Cummins bill.

"I think if everyone would take the same interest and time to make this matter plain there would be no trouble whatever. I have always found the working men of this country, of whatever craft, fair and reasonable to such an extent that they are always willing to be convinced. I have been employed myself as a printer and have been an employer for some years in the conduct of my newspaper, and I know the position of the working man from the standpoint of the pay envelope and from that of the employer, and my views upon this subject are not theoretical but thoroughly practical. I think that every man worthy of public confidence sympathizes with honest labor and is ready and willing to help it any way he can, reasonably.

"Most of the misunderstandings come from a want of knowledge of the facts, and I am very pleased that you as one friend have taken it upon yourself to clear away these misunderstandings, for which there is no basis in fact, whatever.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,"

"W. G. HARDING."

BORN IN CANADIAN WATERS—HE'S A YANK

DAYTON, Ohio.—Whether his baby son, born on Lake Huron, was a Canadian or an American, worried F. J. Bloese, private secretary to Colonel E. A. Deeds, until he got a ruling from the naturalization officials.

The baby was born while Mrs. Bloese was on a lake trip, and Bloese was glad to learn his youngster was a Yankee, no matter in what waters he was born.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK

"Three Men in a Boat," complete the bill.

BIJOU

Last times today, "My Lady's Garter." Tomorrow a picture that combines love, romance and intrigue. Marguerite Fisher in "Dangerous Talent." Miss Fisher in the role of Lila Mead, possessed an unusual faculty. It made her employer dismiss her on a minute's notice. It caused her lover to turn his back on her without any sort of explanation. Yet this same gift was the means by which the man of her heart was cleared of a terrible accusation. It's a corking good story and one that will please all sorts. Episode 18 of "The Lion Man" completes the bill.

CASINO

Shirley Mason in "The Little Wanderer" and the seventh episode of "The Evil Eye." constitutes the program at the Casino for today and tomorrow. "The Little Wanderer" is a dainty little picture in which Miss Mason masquerades as a boy. When you find her disguised this way current events in which she figures are sure to be full of lively interest. As a little tramp she makes her way to the big city where she battles with life's problems, with a little romance mixed in for good measure. It is one of the best things that Miss Mason has ever done.

STRAND

Alice Jorce in "Slaves of Pride" and the seventh episode of "The Vanishing Dagger" are the attractions at the Strand today. "Slaves of Pride" played one of the downtown houses a few days ago and it will not be necessary to give a synopsis of the story. Miss Jorce is supported by Percy Marquant and the rest of the cast in excellent. It is one of the best things Vitaphone has turned out in a long time.

Sunday—Triangle comedy, "Bombs and Brides."

LA CROSSE

Vaudeville today, tomorrow Paramount's latest production, "Everywoman," backed by an all star cast including Violet Heming, Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley and Bebe Daniels.

"Everywoman" is a story of everywoman's quest for love. Wealth, flattery, dissipation and vanity stand in her way, but her quest is finally successful in a picture everywoman wants to see. Gorgeous scenes, marvelous scenery, a splendid cast and a story that touches the spot make the film a modern extravaganza, a riot of beauty, a feast for the eyes and the senses.

MAJESTIC

The greatest crook story ever written has been adapted to the screen. "Alias Jimmy Valentine." This picture, starring Bert Lytell, opens a three day engagement at the Majestic tomorrow.

As may be recalled Jimmy Valentine is a prisoner in Sing Sing on the charge of bank robbery, who has earned the enmity of the warden because he always "plays the gentleman." Jimmy has the reputation of being a master cracksmen who opens safes without the aid of tools, relying on his sensitive touch to feel the slight jar of the tumblers in the combinations of safes. What followed—the effect of Jimmy's reputation in his after life—forms one of the most thrilling dramas ever written. Mr. Lytell is ably supported by an excellent cast. Fox News and Gray Pictograph.

VIOLET HEMING SAYS "EVERYWOMAN" WILL SHOW PUBLIC TASTE

Support. Accented Famous Picture Will Guide Producers in Future Products

Violet Heming, the brilliant stage screen star who is appearing at the La Crosse theater this week in the elaborate picture version of "Everywoman," regards the success or failure of a large-scale artistic venture such as the filming of the famous morality play as a commentary upon the public's taste in motion pictures. "It is a lamentable fact," said Miss Heming recently, "that some 'taste' pictures, exploited with semi-suggestive advertising have packed theaters when the productions themselves were stupid and far from being up to their press notices even in their naughtiness. When a big, clean, beautiful product of art like 'Everywoman' comes along, it deserves the support of every right-thinking movie patron. Its success will encourage producers to make more like it. Its failure would be an indication to them that the public doesn't like pictures that have an uplifting influence on the screen. The temptation would be to return to the cheap, tawdry stuff that a stage play shows what the public thinks of it. I am confident that the screen version will be just as enthusiastically received."

SEAT SALE FOR FISKE O'HARA

The seat sale for the engagement of Fiske O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo" at the La Crosse on Friday and Saturday is announced to open at the box office Wednesday morning. "Springtime in Mayo" is said to be an overwhelming general success. It has a touch that kind of nature which makes the whole world of ordinary people akin, and therein lies one of the secrets of its success. Audiences live the play as it is unfolded before them, they enter into the spirit of it unconsciously, they cannot help it. Nobody discusses a trifling play unless to protest against its dullness or independence. "Springtime in Mayo" is a play about something, and the setting of that something by Mr. O'Hara and his talented company, keeps audiences applauding and laughing and sends them away to talk about it and remember it. In "Springtime in Mayo" Mr. O'Hara plays another of those dashing Irish roles with which he has endeared himself to many hearts, to the accompaniment of his splendid voice.

Has Many Distinct Features

The Rivoli is noted for its novel and distinct features, and there have been any number of theatrical men in the city the past couple of weeks for the purpose of gaining first hand information.

The ceiling of the auditorium is curved and the indirect cover lighting system benefits the entire floor, so there is not a dark spot in it. Anyone entering the theater at any time may be able to find a seat without straining their eyes, as there is plenty of light. All of the lighting in the boxes are of the five color system: green, blue, red, amber and white. All lights are turned on and off from a switchboard in the projection booth. The stage is not large and is equipped with a Minusa screen, one that is easy on the eyes. The draperies of the theater are in Mulberry colored velvet and is one of the most striking features. The stage is equipped with a drop electric operated from the booth.

GETS $1 A DAY FOR GOING TO SCHOOL

MARIETTA, Ohio.—Clarence Miller, 16, of Lawrence, Ky., Washington, is probably the only boy in the United States who is paid $1 a day for going to school. The board of education, which must furnish transportation to all students living more than two miles from a schoolhouse, found it cheaper to pay Clarence the cash, than to furnish him a convenience.

recent years have attracted attention as widespread and favorable as "Springtime in Mayo," which is a romantic comedy drama, in three acts and written by Anna Nichols Duffy. Its theme is fresh, wholesome, real and un-theatrical. It has brilliant comedy that sends sparks of radiant humor flying and keeps an audience in almost continual mirth. No other actor on the English-speaking stage is better equipped to delineate romantic roles than Mr. O'Hara, and in "Springtime in Mayo" he is said to have been fitted with a part well suited to his appealing personality. He will also have a number of new songs which will be sung in his usual effective manner. The play has been given a faultless presentation by Augustus Pitou, Inc., the members of the supporting company having been selected with great care.

The White House

John Adams was the first president to occupy the white house, in 1800. In those days it was gray, having been built of Virginia free stone. After the British burned it in 1814, white paint was used to cover the marks of the fire, and since that time this paint has been renewed regularly. The white house grounds within the iron fence contain 18 acres, while the adjoining white house lot has 70 acres.—Dubuque Herald.

EUROPE MUST WORK OUT OWN SALVATION
SAYS BUDAPEST MAN

Declares U. S. Cannot Reconstruct Old World Nations
by Loans

BUDAPEST.—"The peoples of Europe are in a dark, deep pit and they must work themselves out of it," says Roland Hegedus, bank director and lecturer at the Budapest University.

"The United States is richer than she knows but she cannot reconstruct Europe by loans. All the nations of Europe are beset with a succession of political and economical problems that are well nigh insolvable.

"Russia is the key to the situation and until some sort of consistent government is established there, we can hope for little here.

"What the United States can do, perhaps, is to work to secure free trade among these Central European countries. None of us can do any business with tariff frontiers.

"I believe the paper money situation will force a revision of the peace treaties. All these little nations are living from hand to mouth, printing up money to keep going. Poland is hardly a year old and already she has a national debt of 130,000,000,000 marks, with a 40,000,000,000 deficit. The same is more or less true of Czechoslovakia, of Hungary and of all of us. The armies are eating up half our incomes, yet each nation is afraid to disarm because of possible attacks from neighbors.

"With this paper money carnival, Central Europe cannot trade with countries having better moneys, such as Spain, Holland and Switzerland. This situation also applies to Italy and France.

"Meanwhile our civilization is going by the board. Because of the exchange, our universities and reading people cannot afford to subscribe for science or lay publications of England or the United States.

"For some reason our educated but impoverished classes cannot go abroad to find work, provided they could secure passports.

"These conditions are not altogether the results of a big war but of a bad peace which has fallen harder on Hungary than any other country. God

"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE"
CREATED FURORE ON THE STAGE

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" created a furore when it was produced on Broadway. It was instantly acclamed a "hit" by the critics of the New York press and its popularity was tremendous. For more than a year it drew capacity houses as one of the most sensational and thrilling melodramas of a decade, and its title became such a by-word that Gus Edwards, the well known song writer, composed a popular ballad called
"Look Out for Jimmy Valentine," that was sung wherever pianos or phonographs were played.

"Enough applause greeted the production more than once to cause the players to pause in their lines," said the reviewer of the New York Herald.

The drama will create the same furore on the screen, as it contains every element of success.

Bert Lytell in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," the screen version, appears at the Majestic for three days starting Monday.

HARVARD STUDENTS
AID RECONSTRUCTION
PLANS IN FRANCE

Group of Forty Architects and Engineers Leave for Meuse and Argonne Regions

PARIS.—The Harvard reconstruction group, made up of some 40 young student architects and engineers of the advanced grades at Harvard university, have left for their posts in the Argonne and Meuse regions to carry on their work of reconstruction in the devastated areas.

M. Ogier, minister of the liberated regions, received the group on its recent arrival here, and assured them the fullest facilities of the French government in carrying on their work. Five members of the mission were assigned to Rheims. Two of them are to work under the direction of M. Denoy, architect of the cathedral, in designing plans for the restoration of the famous basilica. Others are taking part in the gradual restoration of the old city back to its pre-war aspect.

At Suippe four of the Harvard group are under the direction of M. Lavigne, government architect, in the construction of standardized provisional houses of four and five rooms. At Somme-Py four others are drawing plans for the court house and school. Others are engaged in planning a modern system of gas, water and electricity for Somme-Py.

At Clermont-en-Argonne a group of 12 of the Harvard men are engaged in the work of reconstruction, which is carried on here at a vast extent, as this was the center of greatest destruction during the recoil of the Germans after their defeat on the Marne.

THINGS
By H. MARGARET JOSTEN

An interesting difference between the schools of dancing was recently pointed out by Mr. Pavier of the Pavlov-Opkainsky ballet. "The music is accented differently," says he. "The French and Italian dancers bring the return to the floor after a leap or spring on the music beat, while the Russians make the flight, as it may be called, on the beat. The theory here is that an effect of lightness is thereby procured."

Still another technical difference lies in the forms of muscular control used. While the Italian school advocates a rigidly laced body and relaxed limbs, the Russians keep the muscles of the legs more or less fixed, while maintaining a free body movement.

To many dancers, especially of the classic French and Italian schools, music is simply a pleasing background of melody and harmony and a means of marking the accent. With the true Russian ballet, however, the dancers must illustrate the music rather than simply be accompanied by it. It is therefore not enough for such a dancer to learn dancing technique; he must have a thorough knowledge of music as well. The dancing must be actually interpretive. Mr. Pavier says, "No man or woman is considered capable to interpret unless he or she understands fully the musical and dramatic significance of the story or idea. So we are well grounded in folk-lore, dramatic tradition, and the literature of art as well as in music." The dancer and the music become literally one.

STONE-CRUSHING PLANT INSTALLED NEAR M'GREGOR

Institution to Lower Cost of Product for Road Building Plans

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—The new stone crushing plant at Marquette will be in operation within a month. It is now being installed. The machinery is all on the ground and is being put in place rapidly.

Two crushers with a capacity each of ten cars of crushed rock a day are being installed this week. The company has orders ahead for hundreds of cars of crushed rock for road paving and for rip rap for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. When once in operation they expect to continue straight through the winter. By next spring they will be in condition to supply twenty cars a day of crushed rock for paving contracts. With the large program of town paving and country road building in northeastern Iowa the next few years, the operation of a stone crushing plant nearby will mean the saving of thousands of dollars of freight to this section in their road work.

The Marquette company claims it has the best quarry in the state and the most advantageous location. The property comprises 21 acres of bluff of solid limestone with only a slight overtopping of dirt. The hill at its highest point is 200 feet high. The limestone has been tested at the Iowa State college and found to have no superior in the state. It tests not only very high for hardness but 90 per cent lime carbonate. The quarry is located partly within the yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad at Marquette. This gives them unusual facilities for economical and quick shipment. With four divisions of the Milwaukee road centering at the yards, there are miles of switching tracks and cars are available if they are available anywhere. The stone plant has a side track running into the main switching yards.

A small stone crushing plant has been operated at the quarry for several years by the Sawvell Brothers of McGregor. The new company organized in March is the outgrowth of this small business and the demand that road paving is creating for crushed rock. It is capitalized at $100,000 of which $60,000 is to be paid in at once. About $55,000 has been subscribed. Business men of the six towns, McGregor, Marquette, Ossian, Postville, Elkader and Waukon are in the company. Six banking groups of these towns are represented among the stockholders. J. Kramer, McGregor, is president of the company; J. Arnold, Waukon, vice president, and J. Berry, Marquette, secretary and treasurer. W. F. Bickel, McGregor, is engineer and J. Trygg, foreman.

Three products are to be turned out: rock for rip rap for railroad; crushed rock for paving and all kinds of concrete work, and pulverized rock for liming soils. This last product it is thought will become a very important part of the business, for farmers are beginning to realize how much loss of fertility on their farms is due to acid soil. Lime is the cure for this "souring" and liming soils is expected will be generally practiced before long in Iowa, as it is already in some other parts of the country.

"You ought to read the newspapers and get a different opinion." "Opinion! Good Lord, man, I have three already."—Dartmouth Jack-O'-Lantern.

CATTLE ON FARM NEAR LANSING REAL 'Highbrows' WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

LANSING, Iowa, Sept. 11.—The Oakdale farm, near this place, is the nearest to perfection in its line that can be found in the state, it is believed. Its specialties are pure-blood Holstein cattle and high-grade swine. The cattle are kept in palatial barns and fed the choicest of feeds. Each goes to pasture wearing fly-screen blankets. The barns are the most modern that can be built and triple air-spaced silos are used. Carloads of baled alfalfa are fed. Each cow receives its ration of feed in exact proportions, by weight, for the animal is worth nearly their weight in gold. Some of them were bought for a greater price than is valued one of the most palatial residences of a city and some of the animals are so valuable that the owners refuse to fix a price upon them. Adjoining the barn is a building fitted with steam boilers. The steam heats the barn in winter, drives the dynamos that make the electricity, which in turn lights the little city of farm buildings besides running the almost innumerable motors that lift the big elevator that runs from the ground to the third story of the barn. There is also a steam house, where all the milk cans and pails are sterilized. There is a refrigerating plant that makes all the ice used on the farm and keeps cold an immense refrigerator. The region hog house near the barn and the animals are given every comfort. There are now sixteen small pigs that cost $1,000 apiece. The concrete floor of the pig house is heated by steam all winter, as the owners of the farm figure that it takes four bushels of corn a month to keep a pig warm and believe that the price of corn to put into coal makes a better profit and an easier way to keep it warm. Electric fans are used in the pig house in summer; running water for baths and long windows are other features.

The Sand Blast's Wide Use.
The sand blast enters very widely into all stone marking methods and many metal marking processes. The first blast was the invention of Mr. B. C. Tilghman, of Philadelphia. In 1884 Mr. Matthewson patented an apparatus in which by an ingenious exhaust arrangement the impelling steam is swept away, leaving only cool dry sand to strike against the object acted on. The success of this device has opened up a wider field for the employment of the sand blast. One hundred and fifty thousand grave stones, used to mark the resting places of soldiers killed in the civil war battlefields, were made in this manner, which was really the first really extensive use of the sand blast. Cast iron letters were fastened by shellac on the marble, and sand was driven by steam pressure of 90 pounds, and the stone was cut in four minutes to a depth of a quarter of an inch, leaving the letters in relief.

Mr. Bryan poured over the paper quite a while before giving his answer. —Forbes Magazine.

The New Triplex Spring Overland

Keeping Up Its Reputation For Keeping Down The Up-keep!

The burning question today is Gasoline. Obviously, the price will come down when more oil comes up. But that will be only a respite, not a cure.

The fact is, the time has arrived to increase the radius of motor mileage independent of the gas tank. The Overland designers reached that conclusion four years ago. That was not difficult. But the solution was. We will tell you why.

Anyone with a smattering of mechanical knowledge knows that to reduce the weight of a car is to reduce the cost of maintenance.

But, ordinarily, to reduce the weight of a car is to sacrifice the comfort of riding in it; and comfort weighs just as much as economy on a motor ride.

The problem was to combine lightweight economy with heavyweight comfort.

Expert engineering knowledge said it couldn't be done.

That was the tradition that a generation of automobile designers had set up.

And that is the tradition that the Overland designers have upset.

After four years of unrelenting effort, involving millions of dollars in experimentation, and millions more in readjusting the thousandfold activities of the Overland plants to the fundamental change in Overland plans, the most perplexing of automobile problems is solved.

Fleet as a cruiser in her light-alloy steels, and suspended securely on the new Triplex Spring—

The Overland is literally a revelation in comfort and a revolution in economy!

You don't know what either comfort or economy is in a lightweight car, till you have ridden in the new Suspension Triplex Spring Overland!

For this is the first time in the history of motoring that economy and comfort have taken the road together!

The Overland Sedan has an average of 25 miles in 97 cities. That is the reason and this is the season for an Overland Sedan.

Goths Supplanted Finns. Prof. Paul C. Sinding, in his "History of Scandinavia," says: "On the entrance of the Goths into Scandinavia the land was inhabited by two reciprocally kindred nations, whose present names are the Laplanders and Finns. Both of them had come from the East, but the Laplanders were forced by the Finns up to the remotest parts of Norway and Sweden, where remains of them are yet to be found. The Finns themselves were, after a valiant resistance, forced back by the Goths, and their descendants at present live in Finland."

A Reasonable Suspicion. "Something mighty funny about this yur watch of mine," grumbled a citizen of Straddle Ridge, Ark. "It hain't kept no decent sort of time since I had the jeweler over at Tun-linville fix it. First-rate good watch, too."

"How much did it cost you in the first place?" asked an acquaintance. "Swapped a dog for it and got a dollar to boot nine years ago. I'll betcha, by crickets, that there cuss stole the jewels out of it. That's what I'll betcha."—Judge.

EVANS IS CHAMPION AMATEUR GOLFER; QUIMET DEFEATED

Evans Both Amateur and Open United States Champion in 1918

ROSLYN, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Charles Evans, Jr., of Chicago, a member of the Edgewater Golf club, today attained the honor of being the world's best amateur golfer by defeating Francis Quimet of Boston in the final round of the United States championship tournament, 7 and 6.

His position as world's champion, while unofficial, is like that of William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, as the best there is in tennis. Each played in a tournament in which the premier players of the world were entered, and each was victorious.

Evans has now joined the select few who have held the United States amateur title for more than one year. Not since 1910, when Jerome D. Travers won the second year in succession, has a champion come back. Evans was both amateur and open United States champion in 1918.

Hunt was appointed acting chairman for the business meeting when the new officers for the season were elected. That there infernal lady ain't got no more feelings than a snapping turtle."—Kansas City Times.

"AMEX" OLYMPIANS PROTEST VOYAGE ON "SEA-GOING HEARSE"

Praise Army and Navy in Efforts to Make Both Trips Comfortable

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Gross neglect by the American Olympic committee of the welfare of the United States team on its way to Antwerp, while there and on its way home, was charged by athletes arriving today on the transport Sherman from Belgium. Dismissal of the committee will be demanded, they said.

Praise for the army and navy in efforts to make the trip over and back as comfortable as possible was expressed by the returning delegation. The Olympic athletes blamed the committee for sending them by transport declaring it was too slow and tended to let the men grow "stale" before they arrived in Belgium. They said their quarters were unsatisfactory.

On the way home they came on a "sea-going hearse," they said, and characterized the voyage as "gruesome," for the Sherman brought 763 bodies of American soldiers dead from Europe "almost directly under the sleeping quarters."

STARS IN NEW BROADWAY PLAYS

NEW YORK—The cards are all stacked for five new "queens of the stage" to be shining along Broadway before another year is ushered in. One has already been "played" in "Spanish Love" the work of Avery Hopwood and Mary Roberts Rinehart, at the Maxine Elliott Theater. She is Maria Aschra (center). Mitzel Hajos (upper right) will play the star role in a new musical romance to be produced by Colonel Henry Savage. Florence Reed (upper left) will play the lead in "The Love Woman" by Edgar Selwyn which is to open the new Selwyn "Times Square Theater" Sept. 15. Margaret Lawrence (lower right) will be seen in a new play the Selwyns will present in October. Maude Odell, Jr. (lower left) has signed to play the main turn in "Turn to the Right." She is a daughter of the famous Maude Odell.

Way to Victory

The longer I live the more certain I am that the great difference between man and man, the feeble and the powerful, the great and the insignificant, is energy and invincible determination—a purpose fixed, and then—death or victory! That quality will do anything that can be done in this world, and no talents, no circumstances, no opportunities, will make a two-legged creature a man without it.—Fowell Buxton in Merrill Herald.

Heat

Why do call a fast automobile driver a scorcher?

Because he goes out at a hot pace, makes pedestrians boiling mad, warms up the police, gets roasted in court, and calls it a burning shame.—Boys' Life.

A Beginning

"Anyhow," said the optimist, "we have made the Fourth of July safe and sure."

"Yes," replied the pessimist, "but there are three hundred and sixty-four other days in the year still to be looked after."—Washington Star.

SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL EVENING CLOSING OF COMMUNITY SERIES

SPARTA, Wis., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—One of the finest of the many enjoyable community meetings held during the summer on the lawn at the court house square, was the musical evening held last Sunday, when Prof. Edgar E. Gordon of the state university conducted the community singing. Every singer in the town and surrounding country side was invited to be present and assist in the music and a large chorus choir filled the platform.

Mr. Charles Tomlinson, who was in the city for a few days before going to Madison to take up his fall teaching, had his orchestra for the occasion, and music of every sort, fellowship and love, songs of country, and songs of Christian inspiration were sung by the large audience present. There was no speech for the evening, except that of Prof. Gordon in connection with the singing. Prof. Gordon travels all over the state for these community gatherings, and Sparta was glad to have him here at the closing of the union art services.

Sparta has the reputation of having held the greatest community gatherings of any place in the state. It was estimated that 1,800 people were present Sunday evening. Miss Grace Howard was the soloist for the evening.

The only celebration in this vicinity on Labor Day was held at Silverdale. The stores in town closed for the afternoon, and also the banks and post office, otherwise things went on much the same as on any other day. At Silverdale, there was a ball game between Rockland and West Salem, a dance in the afternoon and evening in the open pavillion at the summer resort, for which Welkings orchestra furnished the music. Many private parties enjoyed a good time, both on the grounds at this popular place and at other places near the city.

Tuesday afternoon, September 1, the Standard bearers of the Methodist church held its annual white box meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Shattuck. There was a good social time, as the girls have been disbanded during the summer and this was their first get-together party for the season. A good, lively program was given and a picnic supper was enjoyed.

The O. E. S. opened Friday evening for the winter's activities, after enjoying a season of rest during the summer. The beginning of the season was marked by a banquet at six thirty, following by work in the evening.

Ray Barnum, who has completed the business course at the W. B. U. in La Crosse, is enjoying a short visit at home with his parents, before taking a position.

Miss Bernice Young entertained her

Sunday school class at her home last Saturday. The girls had a fine time. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the John W. Lynn Post held its regular meeting at the W. C. T. U. hall Saturday. A picnic supper was served. A goodly number was in attendance.

Miss Helen French and Miss Marion Cordes have gone to Kenosha where they will teach the coming year.

The regular bi-monthly supper of the Country club was held at the club house, September 9, and enjoyed by all present.

Miss Margaret Miller has returned home from a two month's visit with her brother at San Diego, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fischer were guests Sunday and Monday at the J. R. Korr home at La Crosse.

Miss Belle Aoy entertained the Alexanderian club recently at her home, and showed some fine views of places she visited on her recent tour of the British Isles, France, Belgium, and Switzerland were displayed. She served Scotch supper, which was very enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Solberg have returned from Milwaukee, where they went to attend the state fair.

Mrs. R. S. Dodge entertained two of her clubs at the home of Will Smith on North Water street, Tuesday.

Ernest Gould of Tomah, who was in St. Paul last week on business, stopped in Sparta for a short visit at the home of his mother, enroute to Tomah.

Mrs. Kent who has spent the past two months with her daughter, Mrs. T. T. Abel, has returned to her home in Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. J. C. Ford who has sold her home in Sparta, has gone to Chicago to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. H. S. Thayer.

W. M. Givier and wife of Naperville, Ill., former residents of Sparta, are guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Beebe, while visiting friends in the city.

A farewell supper was held at Rockland, Monday evening for Rev. C. Owen, who will soon leave to attend Princeton University, N. J.

Mrs. John McCoy of Chicago is spending some time in the city with her mother, Mrs. Flora Merrill.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk O. J. Jackson, Fred Johnson and Lula Deers of Warrens; William F. Krieger and Helen Genz both of the town of Wellington; Joseph Murphy, Glen-dive, Mont.; and Nellie Finnean, Ken-dall; Clem W. Turner and Martha Pruess, Kendall; Frank A. Zuhlsdorf, Pruess, Wellington and Mrs. Anna Grabitzky, Tomah; Ernest C. Wallace and Elzora May Sharney, both of Tomah.

Mrs. Franc Poole, matron at the old soldiers' home in Waupaca, returned there Friday, after a visit with friends in Sparta.

Miss Dona Brownell has gone to Racine to resume her duties in the schools.

Attorney Howard Teasdale has returned home from a three weeks' trip to points in Texas.

Mrs. L. D. Merrill has returned home from a three weeks' trip to various points in New York, visiting at her old home in Yonkers, N. Y. She was at the military academy at West Point, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and other places of interest.

Mrs. Homer Schaafmaster and two children of Detroit, Mich., are guests at the home of Dr. W. T. Scales. Mrs. Schaafmaster was formerly Miss Grace Scales.

Messrs. Walter and Herbert Andres of Falls City, Oregon were guests a couple of days last week of the Misses Gladys and Ruth Rich. The young men were traveling in their car from Oregon to their home in Connecticut. They had been serving Uncle Sam in the navy and had not been home in four years. Enroute here, they spent five days in Yellowstone National park, and two weeks in South Dakota. One of the young men was a clerk in the store of Dawn Rich, at Falls City, who was a former Sparta boy, and brother of the girls mentioned.

Miss Alida Martell of St. Paul is visiting in the city.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregational church served its regular supper in the church dining room, Friday at five thirty.

The Alexanderian club met Tuesday with Mrs. Frank Richardson.

Miss Julia Beebe will leave this week for Prairie du Chien, where she will teach the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Brackett have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark of Modesto, Cal.

Quite Clear.

Tommie lost his temper while playing with neighbor Johnnie and told him plainly that he considered him a person totally devoid of intelligence and predestined to hereafter quite lacking in attractiveness, or words to that effect. This was too bad, as Tommie's mother happened to be in hearing, and subsequent proceedings were too painful to relate. Next day the boys were again playing together, and again Tommie lost his temper.

"You certainly are—" he began wrathfully, but memory lent caution to his tongue, and he concluded forcefully, "just the same kind of a fellow you were yesterday!"—Merrill Herald.

17-Cent Sugar From Czechoslovakia

It has been recently realized that Czechoslovakia is a great source of sugar supply. While we are suffering for sugar they have more than they know what to do with. John R. Thompson, a well-known restaurateur, recently left New York with 10,000,000 Czechoslovakian crowns in his suit case to buy sugar from the markets around Prague. "The sugar situation is becoming worse here," said Mr. Thompson, before leaving. "My restaurants use up thousands of pounds a day and it's getting harder and harder to get, not to mention the continued increase in price."

"I started studying the world's sugar supply some time ago, and found to my surprise that Czechoslovakia produced more beet sugar than the United States and it can be imported and retailed for 17 cents."

WISCONSIN COLLEGES ASSOCIATED

play a large part in the conduct of affairs in our State. They have sent out into active life many of our great leaders of thought and accomplishment. They are privately endowed institutions; they lay no claim—no, could they—to support by taxation. They give their best to Wisconsin; and—in past years—they have asked comparatively little in return financially. They have had a struggle to continue to do their best work; yet they have uttered no complaint. They courageously continue to "carry on," and they ask you to co-operate.
